Unlike many other wolves, Noah was less inclined towards reckless aggression and more interested in fostering social connections within the pack. As he grew older, his leadership qualities became increasingly evident.

In 2010, a series of unfortunate events occurred within the Druid Peak Pack. The alpha male and female died, leaving a void in the pack's hierarchy. It was during this time of uncertainty that Noah Wolf 17 seized the opportunity to prove his worthiness as a leader.

Through a combination of strategic alliances and decisive actions, Noah emerged victorious from the power struggle that ensued. At just six years old, he became the alpha male and, alongside his mate, N31, led the Druid Peak Pack to unprecedented heights.
