Gavin, Mack, Ethan, and Derek are all successful businessmen in their early forties. They've been friends since college, and they're used to spending their Friday nights together at their favorite bar. But when Gavin's wife files for divorce, he's left feeling lost and alone. He doesn't know how to cope with the pain of his broken marriage, and he's not sure what to do with his life now that he's single again.

One night, Gavin decides to join a book club as a way to meet new people and get his mind off his divorce. He's surprised to find that the book club is made up of four other men who are also going through relationship problems. Gavin, Mack, Ethan, and Derek quickly bond over their shared love of reading, and they soon realize that they can help each other through their tough times.

As the friends read through their book club selections, they learn about love, loss, and friendship. They also learn about themselves, and they begin to grow and change in positive ways.
